VOL 7 NO. 50      WARREN, PENNSYLVANIA      Thursday, November 24, 1955      5 Cents A Copy

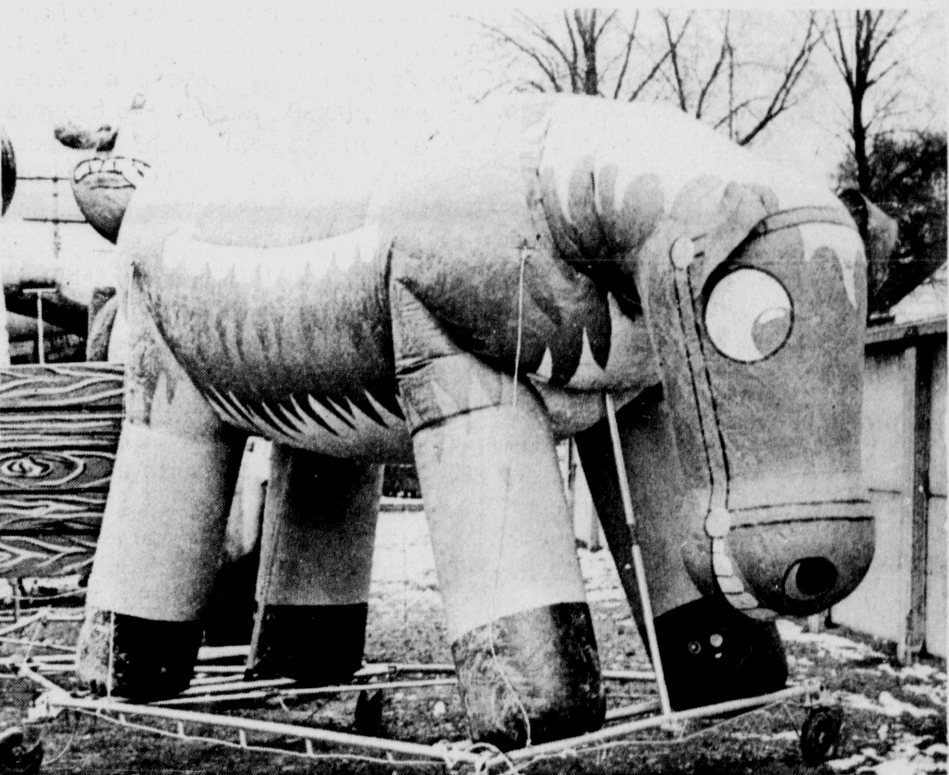

NOW DASHER, now Dancer, now Prancer, and Vixen, plus a bit of coaxing to Comet, Cupid, Donner, and Blitzen. This was the one they were waiting for Monday night, when the Christmas parade was held in Warren, and faces beamed, mouths opened, and there he was. The jolly old oaf with a bowl full of jelly.

HAPPY CHRISTMAS to all and to all a good night. This organ wound up the Christmas parade and several thousand hopefuls went home to get a letter off concerning the problem of filling certain stockings that are known to hang empty at bed time about December 24.

THE SKEPTICS. But wait till they start getting answers, Page the AAA.

WHO are these here now fellows Nashua and Swaps?

EXPRESSING jet-propelled wishes.      BOOO!!!

PIG SKIN NOTES

We have enjoyed this football season as much as any we can remember, thanks to a team which we believe was as good as any ever fielded by Warren, and possibly was the very best. It was a pleasure to attend every game.

This team had something greater than talent. We hope they realize that fact themselves. There seemed to be a lack of the petty rivalries and personal eccentricities which so often plague high school squads in all sports.

The team was well equipped with talent, and because of that a situation was created which offered a potential threat to cooperation. But glory seeking never was evident. There seemed to be just one dominant desire . . . to work together as a team to bring home victories. These boys wanted to play. They were in shape to play, and they did play, elbow to elbow, shoulder to shoulder, and in a common spirit of one for all.

We will not forget those bursts of line-crashing by a very poised and experienced Jack Shattuck. This boy must be given much credit. Few young men would have had the courage to play the bruising game he contributed week after week, if they had suffered the series of head injuries which had been his misfortune in 1954.

He was a good blocker, a powerful runner, a jolting tackler, and a major factor in the team's record. He had two big brothers who preceded him, but we will take Jack as our choice of the trio to contribute the most to high school football in Warren.

Then there was Don Mohney, also well seasoned and poised in his third year of play. He could run, he could pass, he could kick, he could get extra points. And he did it quite humbly and with an open ear to his instructors. The kind of player coaches like to have around, and fully appreciated by fans and fellow players.

Carl The Scooter Grecol They scouted Mohney, they were aware of Shattuck, and they built their defenses to contain them. But then there was the Scooter, coming out of nowhere, and, impossible to believe, and too late to rectify, tucked under his arm was the ball. And he was going "away".

This mite of a player proved the upsetting factor to many a defense. And please note that he took it from the biggest for a full season and he was walking in very healthful fashion when they pulled down the posts at Jamestown. Condition is a nice thing to have, even if it requires weeks of sacrifice to provide those precious seconds of stamina.

Jim Shafer looms large in our 1955 memories, too. He didn't enjoy the headlines and the camera attention that goes with ball carrying. But he barked the signals, and threw the blocks on offense. Then shifted to an end position on defense. Here was a four-quarter workhorse who never let up.

Tom Letrent and John Berdine, a pair of midgets on the scales, but strong against passes, and Tom tossed a few disconcerting lefties, including a TD-maker against Jamestown.

We don't have space for all of these, and we don't want to hurt a single one in a squad that was tops in our book. But there was big Mike Shanshala. This fellow was a leader, respected by players and fans, and he played his over two hundred pounds like a gentleman. However, a very rugged, bone-vibrating gentleman, with effective blocks and tackles.

No one who followed the team or played with it will forget big Mike standing there in his better than six feet, a boy who constantly worked at improvement throughout his scholastic career, and never mis-used the advantage of strength with which he was born.

They have said this line was weak. There was nothing weak about Big Mike, Jim Shafer on the defense, and there was nothing weak about Oaks Foley, a bear cat, fighting man. Oaks could go the route and play every second. He was rugged, and he was willing. He was a lot of football player.

There certainly was nothing weak about Walter Kibbey. Would anyone like the job of shoving this boy out of the way to make room for a ball carrier? There are as many linemen as there were opponents who would answer, "You are welcome to the job." Kibbey was one of Warren's best.

We didn't see anyone steam-rolling over Curt Jenkins, Dick Pihlblad, Scott Whitehill, Dave Fitzgerald, Dick Kremer, and on down the line. We didn't have great depth perhaps, but these guys made up their minds to play ten games of football. They did, and we didn't require depth. There always was a ready pair of shoulders next door to fill the opening gap if someone got the upper hand.

And don't think we forgot that other end, John Powley. This boy developed into a good end, following his sophomore debut of the previous season. In the last few games he showed much promise. If John continues to work, he can be a steady influence in that 1956 team which must start from scratch.

We started out to say we wouldn't forget those bursts by Jack Shattuck, those high swinging knees, those beautiful runs that seemed to come out of a flock of opposition, those tackles which steadied a green team at Corry, We long will remember Don Mohney's run-back of punts at Meadville, and the blocking which made them possible.

And there were those confusing reverses, with the Scooter popping out of noplac . . . The many long runs . . . The constant explosion of a team that made its breaks and scored in so many situations we have lost track of them, blocked punts, stolen balls, intercepted flat passes . . . hit that man, get that ball, and hustle, hustle, hustle.

It was a good year. One of the best in Warren high school history. We can't remember a better. We'll get arguments there, but no one ever will prove one. We'll take this team. You can have anyone you want. We just hope Fred Bell stays in Warren.

WRESTLING SCHEDULE

The Warren high school wrestling teams is prepping for its opening match, which will be held December 18, at Oil City. Homer Barr, successful Dragon mat coach, will have Richard Rodgers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rodgers, Venturatown, as team manager. The schedule follows:

WARREN'S CHAMPION FOOTBALL TEAM brought three trophies home from the presentations held in Oil City last Thursday evening. With the awards were voiced words of praise for the first undefeated team in twenty-seven years and challenges to repeat the performance next year.

The Derrick-Blizzard traveling trophy reads as follows: "The Derrick-Blizzard, Section 2, District 10 Football League. The school winning the title three years may retire the trophy permanently. Champions -- Corry, 1952; Corry, 1953; Meadville, 1954; Warren, 1955."

The statuette in the center reads: "1955, District 10, PIAA, Tri-County Class A Warren".

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

Joe Massa, coach of the Warren high school basketball team, isn't talking much about the coming season, but there are observers who believe his draught of good seasons might terminate this winter. A good second team last year will be sending fast, willing boys up the line, and with veterans like Jeff Homan and Ed Rickerson to steady the newcomers, the boys might be rolling when the league season opens in January.

Managers for this year's squad are Dennis Buerkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Buerkle, of Starbrick, and Rodney Hampson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hampson, of 424 Conewango ave.

Lettermen back are Willard Foley, Oaks to you, John Harrington, Jeff Homan, Don Nelson, and Ed Rickerson.

They move into Jamestown for the opener, December 2, and play a month of tune-ups before starting for the chips on January 6, when Titusville comes to Beaty. The Dragons may lose some of those early ones, but there is material on hand if it can click as a team, and they should be heard from in Section Two.

Can Save You $$$ and Inconvenience With Its Lasting Greater Power.

BEATY JUNIOR HIGH students expressed their opinions forcibly last week with this display in Penney's window. If their goal can be achieved it will certainly aid in enjoyment of tomorrow's adults.

TIDIOUTE STUDENTS WERE TREATED to an extra helping of democracy in action when they visited a session of Warren County court on Monday morning. Prothonotary Ralph Sires explained the functions of various court officials between 9:30 and the convening hour of 10 o'clock. As illustrated by the accompanying picture, the young people were granted the privilege of sitting in the important seats and representing the jury and the witness. Their instructor is Clinton H. Brooks.

ARMED ROBBERY was the charge placed against these defendants when they were arraigned before Justice Loucks and bound over to court. They were charged with holding up Joseph Guilfrie in his store the morning of September 27, and taking $50.

who met Sherman only two weeks before the hold-up. He acted as the look-out. They were picked up in Cumberland county where they had committed a burglary. They were given a suspended sentence and were turned over to Chief of Police Mike Evan and Sheriff Larry Linder for the robbery in Warren, which preceded the Cumberland caper.

ASIDES

EDWARD R.

Omnibus should be especially interesting next Sunday. Edward R. Murrow, and his popular TV program, "See It Now", will be the feature.

NEW CARS POPPING

New models are really popping now. The biggest change we have seen rolled onto the streets this week, many of them in the Warren Christmas Parade. It was the new Studebaker, very much moderated from the former extreme design, but still a very sleek and low-lined car.

Hudson will let loose with its facts and pictures on November 30. And the Nash Rambler is due about December 14.

SCOUTS VISIT AGAIN

Pennsylvania again will be host to the national jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America in 1957. The same site, Valley Forge Park, as that used by the 1950 jamboree when 50,000 Scouts attended, will be the location. It is scheduled for July 2 to July 8, and will require special road detours and park road routing, through the cooperation of the Department of Forest and Waters, and the Department of Highways.

NOT ALONE

The Warren General hospital is not alone in its use of a management consulting firm to improve efficiency. The Pennsylvania Fish Commission also is using one. As have the Hoover Commission, U. S. Steel, Westinghouse, Gulf Oil, FTC, Post Office Department, and the Executive office of the President.

The Warren borough council is looking into the possibilities of collecting taxes from a few adults who apparently are not contributing their per capita levy.

This is our pet tax peeve, because of its unfairness, and we never have been able to understand why people can calmly accept it while beefing about other proposals which, even though imperfect, are far better than this one.

From the first we predicted it would fall short of budgeted figures and that it would be a trouble-maker. The first year it was budgeted for $44,000. It was $10,000 short of that. It has continued short every one of its six years. In fact, its total shortness probably adds up to about $45,000!

However, this amounts to nibbles of about $7,300 a year, much of which is not collectable because of infirmities or other legal reasons for not paying. The result is that a costly effort to get this money would net little more than the price of collection.

It is a troublesome tax, an unfair tax, but it hits the guy who is not organized, the fellow who has no lobby, no concerted resistance. It hits Mr. Average Guy right in the eyes. The big fellow who has the influence with officials is undisturbed by it. No matter how much he makes, no matter how much he invests, no matter how wealthy he becomes in property, stocks, and taxable assets, the per capita stays the same. He actually likes it.

But let some one say something about an earned income tax, or a graduated income tax, and the howls are loud on sensitive officials' ears.

KUDOS TO JIGGS

Take your hat off to Jiggs Bonavita, of Warren, who decided to go back to college for a degree, even though married and with a family. He quit his job, entered Gannon and will be out at mid-semester. And to top it off he has kept up with the kids well enough to make the College Who's Who!

FRUSTRATING

This has been one of the most frustrating football seasons we ever have witnessed in some ways. It seems we have seen more beautiful plays executed than ever before, but too big a percentage of them have been called back because of penalties.

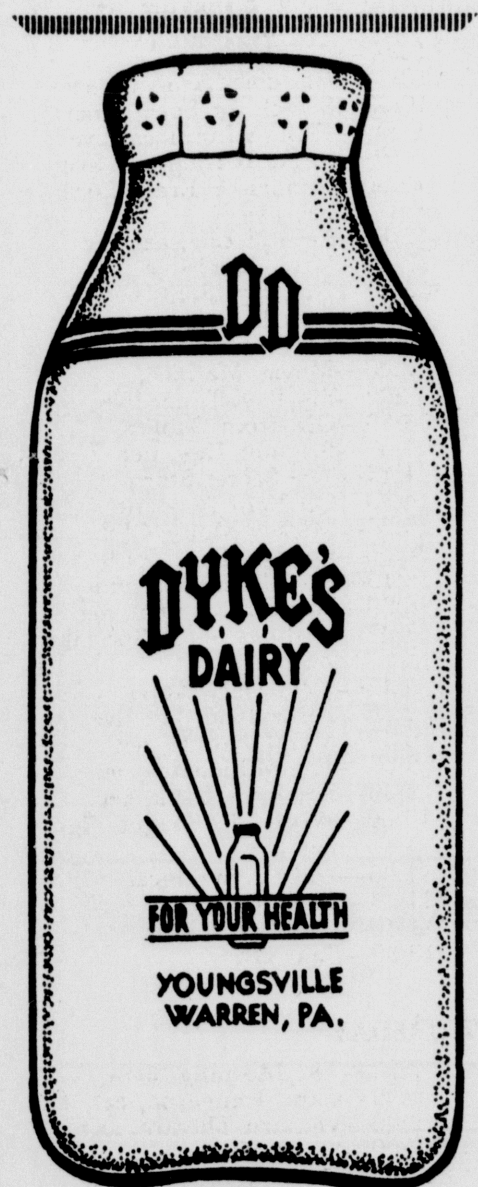

Notre Dame this week nearly lost to Iowa for only one reason. For three quarters it let every series of downs be bogged down by costly penalties. Southern California might have upset UCLA, but it lost its opening score, a beautiful 97-yard run on the kick-off, because of a penalty.

Warren high school's great team would have had a couple more scores against Jamestown, and lost many others throughout the season for this reason. Are the boys too anxious, are the officials bearing down, or is play getting a bit out of hand. Or is it a combination of all of these?

****

BOWLING BY SOUND

We've seen bowling movies, and now TV has it as a regular feature.

"Buy Dyke's Best For Little Tykes"

But soon you will buy it for your record player. R and M Records have put out a 12-inch LPM with a playing time of 48 minutes.

One side is devoted to records. The other deals with fundamentals. They will be displayed on bowling emporium counters soon, and will cost $4.95.

PIANO CONCERT

We attended the piano concert Saturday evening in Beaty school and came away impressed with the new auditorium. For once we sat through a program without bending our knees into a permanent curve. Our reasonably long legs found room to stretch and relax. This will inspire us to attend even mediocre productions of the future.

As for the concert, we always have avoided critical comments on local efforts because we believe that amateur efforts are to be encouraged. In this case, involving a professional, we do not feel qualified to comment extensively.

To this lay listener, the gentleman lacked warmth and failed to get to us. We recognized his obvious talent and the wonder of his hands. But the music did not hold us, as it may have some who fully appreciate such works. This was a common reaction among many who attended and perhaps reveals Warren's need for more exposure to great artists. Beaty auditorium is a beautiful addition to our facilities, but it is far from adequate. It seats only 750, and this is far short of the capacity required for the support of many programs which we are sure Warren will enjoy in the future.

However, this is not its greatest lack. It also does not have facilities to serve the community organizations, such as the Players, who must have storage space for props and equipment. A community auditorium should be built to serve the community and not the school pupils alone.

ACADEMY AWARDS

You will see awarding of Oscars next March 21, from 10:30 to 12:15. Oldsmobile is picking up the $300,000 tab.

POOR RUSSIANS

Even behind the Iron Curtain they will hear LPM's and other forms of record entertainment. A small hand-operated machine has been invented, which is very light and unbreakable. It will be dropped behind the Iron Curtain so that records also can be dropped through which to entertain and to propagandize with our etched platters.

attempt to learn what effect radio and television have on baseball gates. The Hollywood Stars have sold radio rights for $145,000, and believe the broadcasts will help sell the game. They got that amount last year for both TV and radio. No TV this year.

Meanwhile, the Los Angeles Angels are sticking to TV. They will play afternoon games and hope to sell the sport to the little lady who stays home during the day. They hope to get the women so interested that they will start attending in the flesh.

TELEVISION PROGRESS

Few new stations have been popping up in this area in the last few months, and some that had ideas along that line have given them up. The reason is the high cost of TV operation. Jamestown was one community which lost out because the potential operators saw trouble in big red figures shaping up.

But the cost of building TV stations is being lowered, and there now is one firm which will make a station to serve a small community (50,000) for less than $50,000. This should encourage small towns, colleges, and special interest groups to take new interest in the television field. It also is noted that the networks are doing much better. Their gross in 1954 went up 31 per cent!

Things to Come

THE HOUSE LIGHTS ARE DIMMED . . . . . and up goes the curtain of the Woman's Club stage on the second Warren Players Club production for the 1955-56 season, "Of Mice and Men" by John Steinbeck. The drama will be directed by Richard Rapp, with Sunny Lucia as producer and Edith O'Hara as stage manager.

Paul Mutzabaugh, George O'Dea, Frank Johnson, Dick Stone, Meredith Johnson, Will Wakely, Edward Peterson, and Bill Farnick make up the case of this physiological drama.

Reservations may now be made by mail to Box 563, c/o Box Office Chairman, for any of three nights, December 1, 2, and 3.

*** SCOUTING NOTES . . . . Monday, November 28 - A vocational program sponsored by Post 1 of the Trinity Memorial church at 7:30.

It will include films, a demonstration on electronics and Univac, and an electronic brain. All explorers of the Council are invited to attend.

Monday, December 5 - The annual business meeting of the Chief Cornplanter Council at 6 p. m. at the Carver Hotel. The executive board, council members at large, institutional representatives, and commissioners are urged to attend. Reservations are now due.

Saturday, December 17 - The annual Round-Up Rally at 2 p. m. in Beaty auditorium. A film entitled "Philmont Scout Ranch" will be shown.

*** HOME-MADE ICE CREAM . . . . will be the main attraction in the refreshment department at the YMCA Family Night program on Saturday, November 26, from 7 to 9 p. m. There will be a craft class for those not wishing to participate in the family swim. The party will begin at 8 p. m. with Ice Breaker games, stunts, and group singing.

*** THANKSGIVING DAY . . . . . at the Conewango Valley Country Club will feature a luscious turkey dinner with all the trimmings served from 1:30 to 6:30 p. m. Individual turkeys will be roasted and served to groups over eight in number. You may carve it yourself.

*** ALL CHAPTERS . . . . . of Trinity Memorial church Women are sponsoring the annual County Fair and Bazaar on Thursday, December 1, in the parish house. YMCA TRAINS BOYS TO USE AIR RIFLES. In one week two contrasting thoughts were expressed in Warren. On Tuesday, members of the Lions Club were urged to write to assemblymen and state senators in an effort to get a piece of legislation which would ban the sale of air rifles approved for Pennsylvania. The same day, this picture of Warren youngsters was taken at the YMCA where they are receiving training in how to properly use the weapons. Maybe the answer rests in cooperation of the two community-spirited agencies.

Adlai 1956 Model

By Doris Fleeson

CHICAGO. -- There are noticeable differences between the 1956 model Adlai Stevenson and the 1952 version.

Stevenson assumed command of a very large press conference with a brisk assurance in which there was no trace of his old hesitations regarding the great office of the Presidency. He is now a man with a settled mind on that score; he wants to be nominated and elected.

Toward that end he has put himself firmly in the hands of professional politicians. On his right sat James Finnegan, the very successful Philadelphia leader, whom Stevenson introduced with flattering references to his credentials as an expert. On his left sat Hy Raskin, a Chicago veteran who worked as Steve Mitchell's deputy when Mitchell was Democratic National Chairman.

Finnegan will be Stevenson's campaign manager, Raskin his deputy. Both men are personable and bear excellent reputations but it will be quite impossible even for GOP Chairman Leonard Hall to confuse them with an egghead. In fact, an old-time reporter was heard murmuring: "Two less elliptical heads I have never seen."

Raskin will also serve as a buffer state between two important Chicagoans who are not very friendly to each other. One is Jake Arvey, the Cook County leader, who first brought Stevenson into the Illinois political picture and helped elect him governor in 1948. Arvey is described as making a comeback in influence and importance.

The other is Raskin's former boss, Mitchell. It is said that Mitchell bowed out of consideration for Finnegan's job because he wants Stevenson's old one, the governorship. Mitchell traveled indefatigably during his chairmanship and probably knows more Democrats better in the 48 states than any other person. He also made a reputation for honest and enlightened leadership -- and a hot temper.

Stevenson sought to soften the contrast between today's pros and the staff of intellectuals to whom he entrusted his affairs in 1952 by having one of the latter present to take a bow, Wilson Wyatt, who ran his Springfield office. Both Wyatt and Mitchell, he said would continue to give him their invaluable assistance.

Intellectuals will have plenty of avenues through which to reach Stevenson. He is seeking counsel on foreign policy from Dean Acheson; he keeps in very close touch with the scholarly Tom Finletter, formerly Secretary of the Air Force.

There are several reasons for Stevenson's conspicuously firmer grasp on his affairs. He himself has had an immensely active three years, traveling, writing and seeing people. In person and by mail they have registered an admiring confidence in him which has had its effect.

Also, in 1952 Stevenson did not feel strongly about General Dwight D. Eisenhower. He does feel strongly that President Eisenhower has not fulfilled the hopes held out by and for him; in fact, Stevenson is quite honestly indignant about much that has been done and much more that has not been done. This means that a rather considerable body of inhibitions which he did not mention publicly but which restrained him in 1952 no longer exist today.

SHOOT THE DOE

(Larry Stotz, ranger in the Allegheny National Forest, offers a strong argument in favor of controlling the deer herd by shooting both sexes. Here is his current "Your Forest Ranger" release.)

I have on my desk an interesting bulletin entitled, "Deer Problems", written by Harold E. Alexander and published by the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission.

In attempting to bring before the sportsmen of Arkansas the basic problems of deer management Mr. Alexander makes many references to experiences of game managers in other States, for proper deer management is basically the same whether it be in Arkansas, California or Pennsylvania.

Mr. Alexander has this to say about the Pennsylvania deer herd. "Pennsylvania started its deer restoration work way back in 1907. At that time deer were nearly extinct in the State. By 1925, they had too many deer in some places, with range and timber destruction and serious crop damage.

In 1928 they were forced to open the season on antlerless deer, and killed 25,000. Sportsmen fought this action and figured it was the end of their sport. In 1930 they again killed does, and the kill of bucks increased from 19,000 to 20,000, plus 6,000 does. Between 1930 and 1950 they had 10 antlerless seasons, and sportsmen fought everyone of them. Did it hurt the herd? Let's look at the record.

In 1931 they killed 25,000 bucks and 70,000 antlerless deer. In 1938 they closed the season on bucks and killed 171,000 does and fawns. In 1940 they killed 186,000 of both sexes. They just couldn't keep the herd in check. In the 1940's they figured they had 1,000,000 deer on only 8,000,000 acres of range. Individual farmers killed as high as 100 deer in a season to protect crops. The herd continued to increase.

In 1949 they killed 84,000 antlerless deer in one day, plus 46,000 legal bucks. Now in 1953, Pennsylvania authorities figure their doe seasons were too few and came too late. The range was destroyed and today will support only one-half the deer it would have carried if the deer had been kept within the limits of range carrying capacities. Without an antlerless season the deer will inevitably decrease. Once the food is gone the deer becomes his own worst enemy."

Mr. Alexander has this to say about the buck law which is still in effect in so many States. "The buck law is desirable as one method of building up a deer herd. As a permanent policy it has serious drawbacks. All major deer states have eventually found it necessary to permit the killing of both bucks and does. In some parts of the West, laws now protect antlered bucks and permit the killing of does only. Still-hunting without dogs is the method practiced in these Western States."

"Deer are polygamous. A buck has been known to breed 17 does. When bucks, only, are killed there is no limitation or restriction on the size of the herd, unless lack of food, illegal kill, constant running by hounds, disease, infertility, or other mortality factors limit production."

"If a cattle breeder kept all his heifers, selling only his bull calves, he would eventually find it necessary to market some of his females, else he would have more cattle than his pasture could support. Exactly this same range principle applies to deer. After a range is stocked, there is no logical reason for continuing to protect all of the females."

"Hunting of deer of both sexes will not exterminate them any more than it will exterminate quail, squirrels or other game species, provided the harvest does not exceed the production. Where still-hunting is practiced, and hounds are not used, there is little danger of harvesting too many deer during a regular season."

In Brief

A FALL FROM A MOVING CAR resulted in a fractured skull and many body cuts and bruises to Norma Snyder, 20, of Bradford, in an accident which occurred six miles north of Warren on Route 59 at 1:30 a. m., Saturday, November 19. Miss Snyder was a passenger in an auto driven by Harry M. McCormick, also of Bradford. Neither could give a satisfactory explanation of the circumstances which caused the door to open.

INTERESTING PROJECTS were reported by delegates to the Warren County Council of Sportsmen which was held on November 17 at the Kalbfus Rod and Gun Club clubhouse. Conservation projects included highway water supplies, planting of wild animal feed on forest lands, trimmed trees, raised and stocked rabbits, and the accumulation of hunter accommodation information.

William Sleeman, of Sheffield, was elected president. Other officers included Clarence Akeley, of Russell, vice president; Charles Lane, of Hemlock, secretary-treasurer; Don Taft, of Warren, delegate to division; Ray Dickerson, of Warren, alternate delegate.

It was announced that the membership banquet will be held in New Castle in March 1956. The Northwest division will meet in Clarion on December 18, 1955.

BE ESPECIALLY CAREFUL with your driving on December 1 which has been designated by President Eisenhower as "Safe Driving Day". It has been apparent that if we can cut down the highway deaths for one twenty-four hour period we should be able to do the same for the other 364 days of the year. In Warren County, Carl Elmquist, Dr. Quay A. McCune, Homer Bowerson, Jerry Park, George Seavy, and Don Schuler are emphasizing safe driving for the period of twenty-one days ending December 11. Let's set a good example in Warren County!

***

PARTY AFFILIATIONS may be changed in the voter registration department of the Warren County courthouse beginning December 8. The privilege will be rescinded again shortly before the primary elections. It is well for citizens to remember that party changes will not be accepted between the primary and general elections.

of the Warren General Hospital who will meet on Tuesday, November 29, for the purpose of considering the recommendations made recently by the consulting firm of Cresap, McCormick and Paget. Robert O. Wilder, board president, advised that the entire meeting will be devoted to a study of the organizational structure of the institution and the best distribution of functions among various levels and units of the hospital.

At last week's meeting, the board adopted standard courtesy discount rates for physicians, employees, nurses, and clergymen. Miss Dorothy Meldorf, administrator, reported an admissions increase of 37 over September, 60 newborn admissions, and that 323 individuals received treatment in the emergency room.

EMPLOYMENT INCREASED slightly in Warren County during the month of October, according to a release by David W. Levine, manager of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service Office. Actually there are 49 more women and 27 fewer men employed in the firms surveyed than there were two months ago or a net increase of approximately one-half of one percent. Mr. Levine revealed that 413 more persons are at work in the surveyed firms than October 1954 and that the total is even above the 1953 high. Persons filing for unemployment benefits totaled 212 last month compared to 299 two months ago, and 563 in October 1954.

WARREN'S GRAY-Y group extended to North Warren with the organization of that school on Wednesday evening, November 16. Thirty-one boys and five advisors met and elected the following officers: Nelson Johnson, president; Fred Wendelboe, vice president; Dennis Douds, secretary; Ray Barrett, treasurer; Jack Carlson, chaplain, Eugene Bryan, master at arms. Adult advisors are: David R. Sowers, Richard Smith, Tom Solock and Bob Winslow.

SEVERE SHOCK was suffered by S. E. Smedley, 78, of Pioneer st., Warren, after he collided with a trailer-truck on Route 6, three miles east of Warren at 11:45 a. m., on Tuesday, November 22. Investigating State Police advised that Smedley entered the busy highway from a dirt road directly into the path of the truck which was being operated by Lloyd A. Fred, of Falconer, N. Y., who was traveling east. Smedley was rushed to the Warren General Hospital. Smedley's car was damaged $500 worth and the truck sustained damages totaling $150.

MOHNEY MAKES THIRD TEAM Just how silly you can get is revealed by the so-called all-state team named by one of the press associations. Don Mohney, one of the main stays of what many believe was the best team in the state, has been placed on the third team. Jack Shattuck, another power on the team, wasn't even mentioned.

We wonder when the public is going to wake up to the fact that this all-state idea is a complete farce and based on the votes of men who see only a small percentage of the players perform. Another association, better represented in this area, may do better for the Warren boys, but only proves our point.

AWAY OVER ITS GOAL went the Warren YMCA membership drive with a total of 707 when the final reports were handed in last night. The topped figure was 675. The winning team with 2,275 points was captained by Royce Black. Nick Wendelboe's team got the most members, 94.

Individual winners were William Yeager, Jr., John Stachowiak, Grover Lind, R. W. Armstrong, Richard

BOWLING

TOURNAMENTS BLOOMING

Watch the bowling tournaments sprout out in all directions around this section next spring. The ABC event is in Rochester, and the boys on the road like to make it worth their while by stopping off at sweeps along the way. There are alley operators very willing to accommodate them.

The Ten Pin spread in Jamestown which annually runs a tournament for 185 and under bowlers on a major scale, has been talked of as one spot which will also hold an open tournament with prizes comparable to the limited event. Some of the name pros from the big city classic leagues have indicated their willingness to participate. Such names as Bomar are included. And the first entry is Pete Juliano, of Warren.

Whether you are looking for action with your own ball, or whether you just like to watch the hot balls perform, you will have a good year for it.

HOTTEST

Stroh's Beer hit 3515 to take the five-man lead in the nation's scoring this month. And it had a tough time beating its opponents, the Pfeiffer Beers, who totaled 3418. Dick Weber, of St. Louis, leads the nation for three game with 814. There are three others with 800, Lee Zender, Chicago, 809; Joe Gazal, Teaneck, 801, and Bob Nickel, Toledo, 800.

LADIES WEEK

If you watch Steve Allen's program, you will see two of the nation's champion bowlers, Monday evening, at 12:30, Marion Ladewig, five times the national match champion, and Sylvia Wene, the current titleholder, will roll a match. It is the opener for National Ladies Bowling Week.

HIGH LADIES

The women are posting some very neat scores across the nation's lanes. Ann Karrer, of Philadelphia, has an average of 206. Sylvia Wene, of that city, has 202. Stevie Balogh, of Cleveland, is doing 201. Mary Quinn, of Buffalo is running a 200 temperature.

Doris Knechtges, of Detroit leads the three-game totals with 727. Mary Cappel, of Philadelphia, has 720, as does Stevie Balogh. Penny Lucas, of New York, has 299 for the high game, and Hazel Kirsch, of El Paso, has 298.

"WE TEACH BEGINNERS"

BUYERS' CORNER

BUYING A PRESIDENT

Next year we buy a President. We say "buy" one because that is exactly what happens. Organizational politics name the candidates, and those politics are controlled by the purse-strings. Right now there are some writers who claim the General Motors and Ford giants are battling over the Republican nomination, GM is conservative and is placed in the McCarthy category by commentators. The Ford is representative of those who maneuvered President Eisenhower into the office. They want a middle course man.

In either case, how much do you have to say about it? Yet, you help do the buying. You buy accessories and you pay taxes. You are right in the middle and how much do you have to say about electing a President. Do you nominate one?

There has been much talk about changing our antique system of undemocratically naming our chief executive, but nothing ever happens. Chiefly because the public makes no demands.

Why don't you demand action on an amendment that will give you a voice in the nomination and the election of your President? Why not insist on an American way?

A couple of bills have been presented to provide for such amendments. One would give each candidate the proportionate number of electoral votes which his vote in a state deserves. This would have seen President Eisenhower receive 281.6 votes to 240.3 for Adlai Stevenson, a far truer picture of the voting than the totals resulting from the present method.

Another proposal would retain the electoral system, but the electors would be chosen by congressional districts and would have to vote as their district voted. Using this system the last election would have been 375 to 156 for the President.

There also should be an opportunity for you to choose the candidate in the primaries, thus eliminating the deals and convention maneuvers. You then could decide between Warren, Dewey, Knight, Nixon, Milton Eisenhower, and others if you were a Republican. And the party would know it had the popular choice. If a Democrat you could settle the matter between Stevenson, Kefauver, Harriman, Douglas, and others.

You buy him. Why not have a voice in the nomination and the choice?

WANT MISS PA.?

Miss Pennsylvania, Pam Ulrich, is available if you want her for a community affair. The Exchange Club of West Chester does the booking, and is urging Pennsylvania communities and organizations to put her to work. Conventions, celebrations, fairs, expositions, fashion shows, premiers, and other activities are welcome to her services.

Write Charles McCardle, 142 West Market st., West Chester, Pa., if you need a pretty lady and want to schedule her well in advance.

NOT CURES

O.S.R. Tablets are not a cure for constipation, nor a remedy for aches, pains, coated tongue, bad skin, or lack of pep, energy and vitality, says the Federal Trade Commission.

And Vinol Tonic and Yo-Zyme do not have the health-giving qualities they advertise, such as improving digestion, resisting disease, treating weak kidneys, and on and on and on.

The same goes for Joseph Weider Vitamin Mineral Supplement, which is not as valuable in the treating of human ailments as it represents.

NOT LEATHER

Leatherlex is not leather. The makers have been told to so state in future advertising.

YOU'RE STUCK

Don't let your hopes rise too far if you find the do-it-yourself idea stretching itself into the hair-raising category. We aren't referring to the manufacture of frightening devices, such as witches and gnomes.

It seems there is an outfit which is advertising that you can raise your own hair. This goes whether you are as bald as a shaved peach or if you have the fuzz of one which hasn't been on a TV program.

But it ain't so, says the FTC. The kit is sold by Millard, Inc., which contrary to advertising statement does not have trichologists numbered among its employees. Which also isn't a fact, says the charge.

So if you have been sold on the idea that you can raise your own fuzz to be a hair, mark it up to experience, toss the stuff away, and face the facts. You're stuck . . . and with no hair.

FORCES DEADLINE

You will hear about the new Nash Rambler sooner than the company anticipated. A nationally known automobile magazine has prepared an article which would beat the December 14 deadline which American Motors had established. The deadline now will be November 29.

MULCH THE BERRIES

To prevent heaving and severe damage from cold, mulch your strawberry patch. It should be done after the plants have been subjected to cold but before the temperature drops below 20 degree Fahrenheit. Straw is the favorite material.

REST THAT BIRD

If you are serving roast chicken or turkey this week, give the bird a rest before eating. It makes it more tasty. A roast turkey or chicken gains in flavor by absorbing juices if you let it rest between fifteen and thirty minutes before carving.

Then get a sharp, thin blade, a fork with a guard, and dish the meat right from the large warm platter.

HELP THE CLEAN-UP

After the family has pushed away from the table, the clearing job presents itself. Here is a simple way to do the job and to utilize a gadget which you may have put away as out-of-date. Get out the old tea wagon. Bring it up to snuff with some paint or wax, and roll it into action for hauling dishes in both directions. One trip will save many, either in setting the table or in clearing it.

Stevenson Is In

By Thomas L. Stokes

CHICAGO. -- The situation in regard to the 1956 Democratic Presidential nomination has come around to this:

Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee appears the only hurdle now between Adlai Stevenson and his re-nomination.

And the ground is rapidly being cut out from under the Tennessee Senator by certain circumstances and a series of developments, some of them the result of Stevenson maneuvers.

The picture as it looks today is put together from reports by Democratic leaders -- national committee members, state chairmen and vice chairmen and governors -- who are gathered here from all over the country for the three-day party meeting to discuss issues, make rules for the convention next year, and jubilate in a monster fund-raising dinner Saturday night.

Senator Kefauver's only hope of offering a real challenge to the 1952 Democratic candidate, the survey indicates, would be by a direct appeal to the Democratic rank and file in primaries and, in such case, he would have to demonstrate commanding strength over Adlai Stevenson.

And then, it might be asked, what of Governor Averell Harriman of New York, the third man in the race?

The New York Governor's boom is regarded by experts here as being deflated, and possibly beyond repair. Based initially in the psychological advantage always inherent in a Governor of New York, the strategy devised by its promoter, Carmine DeSapio, Tammany Boss, was to expand this toe hold by tie-ups with other big city bosses and, for the breaks, to rely on second-choice pledges from delegations supporting other candidates to come to Governor Harriman if their candidate fell by the wayside.

Carmine DeSapio now finds himself only in step with Carmine DeSapio as regards big city organization leaders. Col. Jack Arvey of Chicago is in the Stevenson camp, and so is Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh, while James A. Finnegan, the highly successful Philadelphia and state political leader, is managing Adlai Stevenson's campaign for the nomination.

It may be said, however, that if for some reason the Stevenson campaign should blow up, Governor Harriman probably would have the edge over Senator Kefauver as an alternative choice, though failure of the Stevenson movement probably would leave a confusing state of affairs from which a dark horse or a compromise candidate might benefit rather than either the Senator or the governor.

As for Senator Kefauver: any "stop" movement, such as he would have to lead against Adlai Stevenson, has two possible sources from which to draw sustenance in the Democratic party, as has been demonstrated historically, though they usually fail.

One is big city machines. As we have seen, Adlai Stevenson has the bulk of support there; but, even if he didn't, the big city leaders never would go to Senator Kefauver, as was plainly demonstrated in the 1952 convention. That is because of their antipathy to the Senator for his exposure of big city machines in his investigation of racketeering and crime.

The other source is the South, which on occasion can unite in national conventions to achieve ends of its own. Senator Kefauver is not, in the first place, held in kind regard by Southern state leaders who are powerful at national conventions.

In the 1952 convention they stuck with Senator Richard Russell of Georgia. The Southern leaders are much more kindly disposed to Adlai Stevenson to whom, with four or five exceptions, they gave their support -- if hardly vociferous or enthusiastic -- in 1952.

There would be one possible avenue for Senator Kefauver to win support among Southern leaders. This would be for him to make compromises on pet Southern issues, such as civil rights, or to go conservative on economic and social measures. But the Senator is not the kind to do anything like that as he has proved by his public record. The other opportunity for the Senator is the state Presidential preferential primaries. While he swept through a number of those in 1952, astounding the experts by the big popular vote he rolled up, he had little real opposition of any outstanding character in most of them. In Adlai Stevenson, who did not participate in the 1952 primaries, Senator Kefauver would have a foe who has already demonstrated his own nationwide vote-getting abilities. Whatever primaries Adlai Stevenson chooses to enter -- and he has arranged for only one, Minnesota -- will be carefully chosen and the campaign carefully organized. Stevenson is aware of a possible pitfall in primary tests, aside from the other pitfalls which yawn continually for a front-running candidate who is so far in front, as he is, so early in the game.

News Suppression In Washington Studied

Is our government suppressing the news in a way that keeps much of the public in the dark concerning vital facts to which all citizens are entitled? Allen Raymond, author and foreign correspondent, recently was asked by the American Civil Liberties Union to make a study of this situation.

Mr. Raymond's newspaper career covers 37 years, including service as chief of the New York Times London bureau, chief of the New York Herald Tribune Rome and Tokyo bureaus, and World War II correspondent for the Saturday Evening Post.

This man is no dreamy-eyed pinko. His work and his employers indicate otherwise. A summary of his report follows:

1. "A trend toward ever increasing secrecy within the Executive branches of the Federal government has been going on during the Truman and Eisenhower administrations."

2. "This trend has been recognized and fought continually by the Freedom of Information Committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors since 1949, but their efforts thus far have been ineffective in turning the tide."

3. "It is a fair consensus among Washington correspondents that abuses of the power in Federal agencies to suppress information of value and interest to the nation were never so rampant as now."

4. "According to the correspondents, this widespread abuse of Executive power is exercised in the great majority of instances by many agencies on matters having nothing whatever to do with national security."

5. "It is a fair consensus that these abuses have already curtailed the power of the press and of Congress itself to be of service to the people by finding out what goes on in government; that they have been accompanied by an arrogation of powers within the Executive of doubtful constitutionality; so far inadequately challenged; that they have advanced to the point where the civil liberties of the people themselves are threatened; and that some prudent remedial action by Congress is necessary."

6. "The power of a free and unlicensed press to be useful to the people in this matter is curtailed in great degree by two factors: (a) a widespread distrust of the press itself by large segments of the population, as, for example, in the labor movement; (b) the rise in recent years of two government-controlled media, radio and television, which themselves are in constant danger of unwarranted dictation, concerning their powers of public discussion, by the Federal Communications Commission."

7. "This problem of news suppression in the Federal government has been recognized by the leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties in Congress for the past decade, and cannot by any stretch of imagination be set down properly as a political, partisan issue as between the two parties."

8. "At the moment this problem has not become one of widespread public concern but has so far impinged on the consciousness of Congress and the Press that a Congressional inquiry is now underway."

9. "Departments and agencies of the Federal Executive, now under fire by Congressional and reportorial critics include: The Department of Agriculture, the Post Office Department, Treasury Department, Justice Department, Federal Trade Commission, Atomic Energy Commission, Bureau of the Budget, Securities and Exchange Commission, Department of Health and Welfare, Defense Department, and others."

10. "Criticism by the press refers to long-standing practices of the Congress itself in regard to Executive Committee sessions in which proffered legislation of interest to great numbers of citizens is often killed with no opportunity for the public to know the vote of committee members; and an increasing tendency among cabinet officers to fail to hold those press conferences which under our presidential system have offered the only opportunity for public interrogation of cabinet officers concerning their management of their departments."

Among recommendations Mr. Raymond proposed to curb the abuse of Government secrecy are the following:

1. "Further study by . . . appropriate non-governmental agencies, divorced as far as possible from partisan politics, of laws such as the Administrative Procedures Act, the Atomic Energy Act, the Federal Communications Act, and numerous others which now restrict the flow of information to the people."

"Such a study would consider whether all their provisions are useful or sound, or whether they need amendment. It further would consider whether new legislation, of a positive nature, would further the cause of informed self-government by the people of the country. Two suggestions for such legislation have been made to me during this study, which I submit herewith for your consideration."

(a) "The establishment within the Federal government of an independent agency to represent the public interest in the de-classification of records hitherto kept secret, and to work for increased disclosure. Such an agency might play a role analogous to that of a public defender in the courts, set up to balance a prosecutor's office."

(b) "The extension of the act, which now requires registration of lobbyists in Congress, to cover lobbyists in the executive agencies of government, so that the public and congress may acquire further knowledge of the influences brought to bear by private interests in obtaining executive favor."

2. "Help in creating a permanent, non-governmental study of the performance of the three major media of public information in this country, the press, radio and television, in the handling of news about government and the defense of civil liberties; a study entrusted to such privately endowed colleges and universities as have earned through long years the trust of an informed public. Such a study well might include research into the relative power of the printed word, and oral or visual means of communication as used by these major media of public information, in transferring thought from one mind into another, and thereby influencing public opinion."

Youngsville, Pa.

TODAY - THANKSGIVING 1955, the Lisowskis live in a modest home near Pittsfield in which they have surrounded themselves with a deep freeze, television, and an electric washing machine. Other luxuries they would never have experienced in their native Poland include gas fuel for cooking and heating. They are happy now and express that happiness to all visitors that pass their humble threshold.

"I'm Glad I Came Here" States Polish Refugee

By Lewis Crippen

Thanksgiving Day, proclaimed by Abraham Lincoln nearly a century ago as an annual opportunity for citizens to express inmost feelings, has become of special significance to a family which resides near Pittsfield in Warren County. With a sordid past of mistreatment in German PW camps and vivid memories of American liberation, both Mr. and Mrs. John Lisowski vociferously proclaim the virtues of the nation to which they hope soon to swear their allegiance.

Neither of them would have believed ten years ago when they were in the depth of despair that a brighter future was soon to be available. John and Jennie had been taken into custody by overlord Nazi after the short-lived conflict between the Germans and the Polish.

John, who had enlisted in the Army of his native country on August 24, 1939, saw his world collapsed by the invasion of the German hordes on September 4 to touch off World War II, and fell into their captivity on the twenty-first of the same month. He was transported into the confines of a PW camp inside Germany and spent ten to twelve-hour days laboring in the fields under the watchful eyes of armed guards as he tilled the soil for the German owners. Later he was transferred to a brewery to continue his enslavement. Jennie was taken into custody as a civilian following the sudden disintegration of the Polish army and became a field worker for the Nazis producing food which enabled the victorious swastika to fly over more and more captured villages, cities and nations.

The conditions faced by the deported were almost indescribable. "When we asked for food we received blows from clubs", John explains in his broken English. Three potatoes a day were the extent of the rations in the captivity endured by Jennie. Life was of little value and if the incessant blows hurried death, there was no remorse. For several years the two worked in separate camps unmindful of the other's existence, as their homes in native Poland were as distant as Pittsfield and Washington, D. C. in this their adopted land.

On a memorable day in 1945 the camps were liberated by conquering Americans and immediately a new life commenced for the interned. Jennie was moved to a new location where she lived a year before an event happened which brought the first joy to her thirty-two years -- four hundred Polish PWs arrived at the camp.

The following day, while eating her noon-day meal, Jennie dropped a personal possession and John leaped to retrieve it for her. From that instant cupid had chosen two prime targets. The next day they met again in church and with the freedom allowed by the understanding Americans the romance flourished and culminated in holy matrimony on May 17, 1947. Two who had experienced the bitterness of war found in each other the consoling interests on which they dared to face the future with all its bleakness and despair.

One day in a casual conversation, Jennie learned from a friend that she was soon to leave for the United States because an uncle here had arranged to bring her into the "land of the free" and guarantee her security until she was established. Within the heart of Jennie new hope was envisioned. She had uncles in America -- maybe, just maybe, they would make such arrangements for she and John.

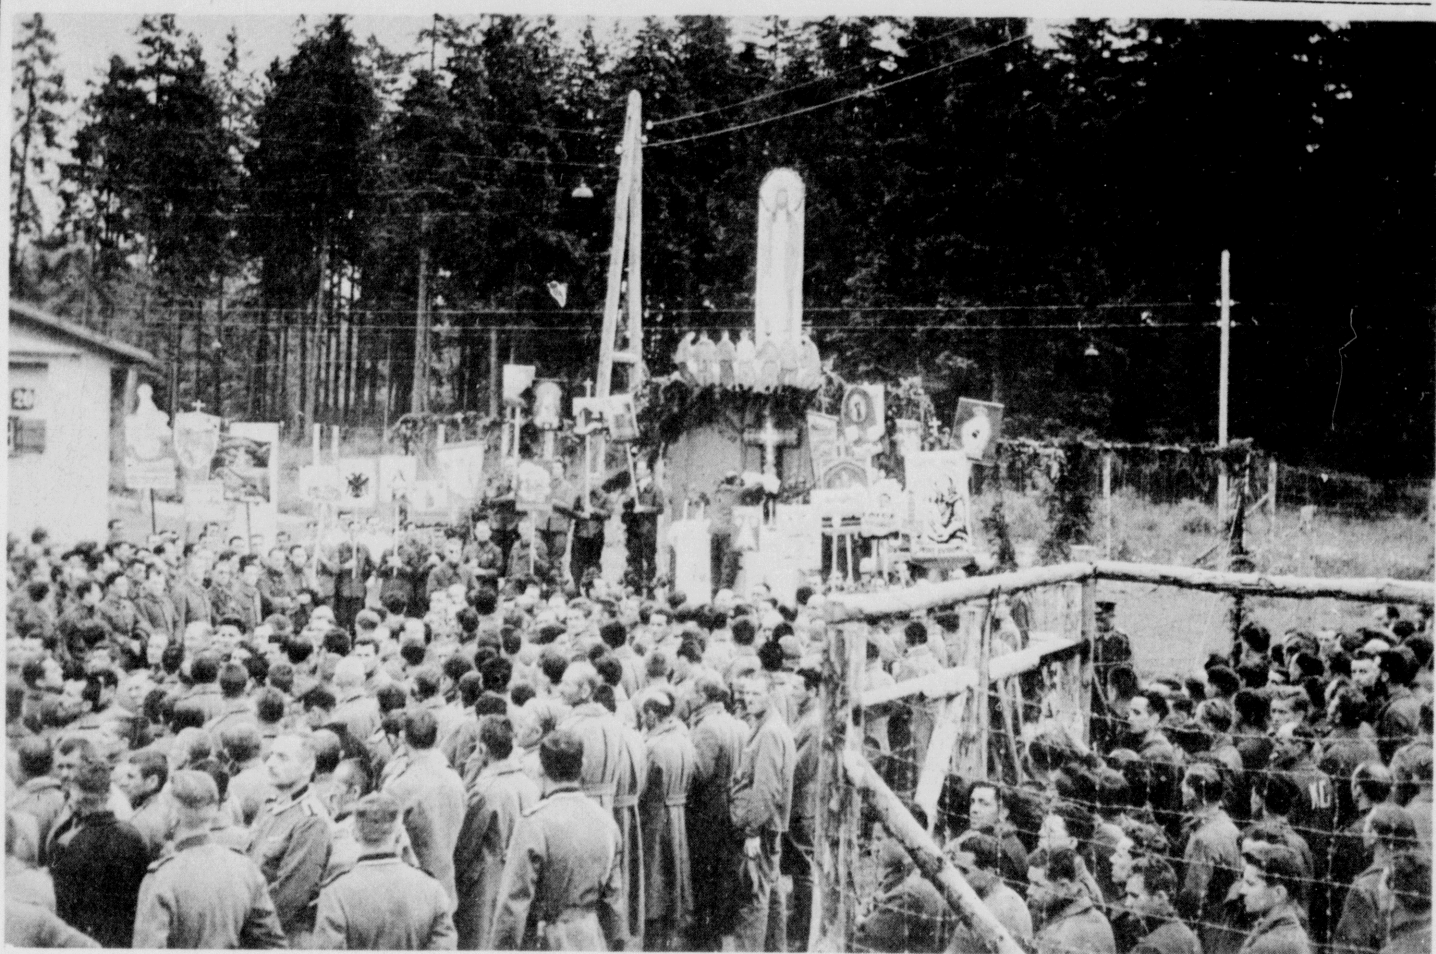

The necessary letter was written to her uncle in Cleveland, Ohio, which no doubt contained the anguish of pent-up feelings and the words which expressed the deepest desire of encouraged hearts. The Cleveland uncle, perplexed with the problem, came to Pittsfield where he arranged with his brother, Stanley Flow, to request immigration officers to allow their entry into the United States.

Events moved quickly now. The happy news was relayed to John and Jennie and within four months they were on the high seas in search of a new land and a fresh start. The breath-taking skyline of New York city brought inspiration to the bewildered pair which was cut short when they were abandoned in Grand Central station with a ticket to Pittsfield as the only contact with the new life. They missed one train while waiting for help but were eventually aided by the railroad officials onto the right train, which whisked them through Buffalo to Erie and by Greyhound bus to Pittsfield to a royal welcome arranged by uncle Stanley.

Uncle Stanley had agreed that the couple could live on his farm and cooperate in the responsibilities. When they arrived, however, they found that the operations had been discontinued and it would be difficult to scratch out a living for the increased numbers. Immediately they began to till the soil and raised a large vegetable garden.

Within a few weeks arrangements were made for John to be employed by the Anderson Brick and Supply Co. in Youngsville. Later he received a position as a helper with Summerson and Luvison contractors by whom he is currently employed.

On entering the Lisowski home you are immediately transported to a Polish atmosphere by the native tongue which is spoken between the pair. Polish dishes, many of which have been copied by American chefs, claim the important positions on the menu. Interesting home and pictures predominate in the album.

In their hearts, however, the free American life has completely crowded out any affection previously held for Poland. "If someone says its better in the old country", states Jennie, "send them over to find out".

The hungry times of the war years will never be repeated if the Lisowskis are successful in providing for the future. A well-stocked deep freeze has become the symbol of existence to the couple who realize the importance of available food. They can laugh again now and especially enjoy the television antics on "I Love Lucy", "Cisco kid", and "Meet Millie".

Independent because of self-sufficiency the Lisowskis ask no favors but depend entirely upon the provisions of the Constitution of the United States and the friendliness of their new Pittsfield neighbors. Last July when an operation was required to restore John to health, Jennie walked as far as Starbrick before a friendly motorist sped her the remaining three miles, a bare five minutes before her husband was silently pushed into the operating room. She visited him every one of the ten days of his confinement, walking varying distances on each trip.

Occasionally their thoughts do drift to the land which is now behind the iron curtain; to sisters, brothers, and parents with whom they correspond via censored mail. Letters from Jennie's mother, located through the help of the International Red Cross several years after the war and when separation was almost an accepted fact, has helped to relieve the loneliness which always accompanies the immigrants.

When queried as to whether other members of the families would like to come to the United States, Jennie replied: "From the letters we will never know. They are allowed to write only 'how are you, we are fine' letters". "Someday", she added, "some day -- we live in hopes that the iron curtain will be rolled back and liberation will be experienced by all our people".

Thanksgiving Day means a lot to all the people. We believe, however, that few, if any, residents of Warren County have as much to be thankful for as John and Jennie Lisowski. When two more events take place they will know the completion of overflowing joy: When they become citizens of their beloved adopted land. When Poland has been freed from the rule of dictators and they can be reunited with their near relatives here along the banks of the Brokenstraw creek.

THESE FIGURES WERE NOT BLOTTED OUT ACCIDENTALLY but express more forcibly than words the feelings of those who were under armed guard. Those blurred beyond recognition are German soldiers which the Lisowskis never want to see again so they have marked them out of every picture in their possession.

HERE IS THE CLEVELAND uncle who received the letter from Jennie requesting that he arrange for their entrance into the United States.

We Give Thanks

For freedom, for plenty, for all the blessings of home and family, we say a prayer of gratitude on this Thanksgiving Day. As we celebrate with the traditional feast, we are grateful, too, for many other American traditions . . . and for the privilege of all to work, plan and save for a bountiful future.

TV Meets Demand for Good Plays

FOR those whose television preferences lean toward drama, CBS and WBEN-TV have devised a schedule that offers a full hour or more of top plays and stories each night of the week.

Following is a guide to some of the week's best (Nov. 27-Dec. 3):
Sunday, 9:30 PM—Peter Lawford will star as an unscrupulous opportunist in "The Long Shot." (Alfred Hitchcock Presents).

Monday, 10 PM—Rod Serling's "The Man Who Caught the Ball at Coogan's Bluff," story of a timid man who makes a spectacular catch of a ball batted into the bleachers and his ensuing fame (Studio One).

Tuesday, 7:30 PM—Walter Brennan and Lee Aaker co-star in "Brush Roper," a heart-warming drama of an old man who tries to live up to his tales of being a former cowpoke (Screen Directors Playhouse).

Wednesday, 10 PM — Thelma Ritter and Gene Lockhart star in "Christopher Bean," tender comedy-drama of a woman who befriends a dying painter. (20th Century-Fox Hour).

Thursday, 3:30 PM—An exciting hour-long thrill-drama entitled "Man of Taste" will star Zsa Zsa Gabor (Climax!).

Saturday, 10:30 PM — Brian Donlevy stars as a down-and-out race track tout who tries to prove he can handle men better than horses in "Barbecue" (Damon Runyon Theater).

OVER THE TOP went the St. Joseph financial campaign after only four days of effort by the workers. The minimum of $125,000 has been pledged with still hundreds of parishioners on whom the solicitors have not called. Fr. Alfred M. Bauer spoke words of gratification upon announcing the initial success and hastened to advise that the completion of the first goal does not complete the drive but merely assures that the church will be built.

In this picture, a small portion of the workers are participating in the solemn opening ceremonies with Fr. Alfred M. Bauer presiding. More than 165 men attended the service and attended an inspirational rally in St. Joseph's hall where the original gifts were enumerated. (Photo by Neal)

BACK TO FUNDAMENTALS

As it stands today we do not have a civilian defense system that will work. This is because few of us have a knowledge of what will happen if war really comes. Secrecy has kept the truth from being widely known and we go about the job of play-acting at defense.

We are not facing up to the facts about modern war. No war has been fought that compares with the next one, if it occurs. We are not convinced that it will not occur. Men will take great chances for power and self. What is the loss of a world to the man who may lose his life in any kind of war he starts? He is a gambler at best. Who is there to say that no man in a high place today is willing to gamble the future of civilization if he might come out the ruler of the world?

War has been out-moded, as anyone with a sane mind can see. But are all men in official positions sane?

Obviously we have no defense against all-out attack. Our cities will be laid in ruins. The radiation from the cause of these ruins will reach into the rural areas and cost great loss of life. Utilities will be knocked out. There will be insufficient drugs and medical skills to care for all the injured.

Atomic submarines, or a fleet of standard craft of this kind, can surround any nation during the night, let loose their atomic bombs and lay low all harbors and major cities on its coasts. The inland portions would be hit from the air.

We could not evacuate these cities in time to prevent loss of life even if we knew about it in advance and all roads were clear. Many and maybe all would be bombed without warning. Evacuation then becomes even less possible.

We are not far from still another weapon and already have many of limited range. Guided missiles have been developed that will do major damage at distances up to a thousand miles. This suggests that submarines do not have to park off the immediate coast to launch their weapons.

And the next war will not be fought with the explosives of the past. Even our forces in Formosa today are equipped with cannon and other weapons that have atomic explosives as standard equipment. What will happen when these start popping? Will such an action mushroom into a larger retaliating war and bring down all of our houses?

THE BEST DEFENSE

It seems to us that the best form of defense is being ignored. We must get back to fundamentals. Every section of the country should be preparing to be self-sufficing. If Warren county were isolated from the rest of the nation, how would we live?

We must have the knowledge to manage fairly well. We have scientists, skilled workmen of many trades, doctors, nurses, woodsmen, farmers, and many technicians. But are they organized?

Can we keep our basic power needs going. Could we build a power plant? Could we feed ourselves? Could we make basic medical supplies? Could we as an area get by as a modern Smith Family Robinson? It could come to that.

Perhaps all of us should be getting back to fundamentals. Perhaps we should be learning how to farm, how to make electricity, how to make ordinary repairs to machines and to our homes.

Perhaps the do-it-yourself idea has a purpose which we do not appreciate. The skills long lost in this specialized society of ours may be returning to many average citizens, and to good purpose.

One of these days the world may consist of numerous little areas, isolated and on their own. There will be no national networks, no means of communication. The few who dare travel will suffer from radiation, and the wise ones will set up laws forbidding travel so that such radiation can not be brought to safe areas.

It will be a new kind of world. A world with far more knowledge than was the case at the beginning, but a world almost starting from scratch. Small nations might be able to move in and take over with comparatively weak armies, but what would they take over?

They would be better off to stay where they are and to set up a defense against the results of such widespread atomic and hydrogen blasts. The world will run for the caves and each will be much on his own.

It makes you wonder where you can go to escape. Where is there to hide? And one famous scientist has said there is no such place.

Civilian defense, then, seems to be on the shoulders of each of us. We should widen our knowledge of basic living. We should prepare to act together in small areas.

And while doing this, we might be wise to enlighten ourselves on world problems and do a better job of picking leaders who will take the steps needed to prevent all this.

The United Nations is there to do a job. When are we going to realize that it can be the answer to world crime, committed by nations, and insist that our officials treat it as such.

No Money Down — January to June To Pay For Gifts

"I SPEAK FOR DEMOCRACY" was the opening sentence of each five minute original oration in the final contest for Warren County's Voice of Democracy winner. The participants performed before a scant handful of interested citizens in the small courtroom on Friday evening. The ideas expressed divulged the tremendous amounts of thought and research which preceded the composings. Observers were convinced that no danger rests in turning the responsibilities for our liberties over to the well-informed future citizens.

pittling. Our leaders are too occupied with politics. Just in case they do not wake up in time, civilian defense on the local level better get back to great grandfather's day with a modern touch. Even an ox won't get you to Pittsburgh if it no longer exists, or if it is isolated by a ring of radiation that removes it from our lives as a source of supply. We may be on our own. How ready are you?

Here ... you'll find a Faith to live by ...

It's quiet inside. Quiet with the peace of centuries, for this is God's House.

Within these walls, the worries which loomed so large outside become less fearsome ... for the first time perhaps you see them in their true perspective. If this alone were the reward of Faith, it would be enough. But there is more.

Faith is a source of strength, a reservoir of power that helps you meet the needs of every day. By worshiping with your family each week at your church or synagogue, you're giving them a measure of security no amount of money could buy. The Faith to hope ... to grow ... to live by.

Give them a Faith to live by
